37th Thailand TESOL International Conference

ELT Pathways to Professional Excellence

January 20 - 21, 2017

The Ambassador Hotel

Bangkok, Thailand

Thailand TESOL currently invites all those working in the field of English Language Teaching or related areas to submit an abstract for the 37th Thailand TESOL International Conference on January 20 - 21, 2017 at The Ambassador Hotel Bangkok, Thailand. The theme of the conference is "ELT Pathways to Professional Excellence."

We welcome presentations, workshops, and poster sessions from all aspects of the "English Language Teaching and Learning". Not only do we wish to explore ELT in Thailand, but also in Asia and across the globe. Our goal is to stage a forum for in-depth discussions and debates that will promote effective classroom practices for the benefit of English language learners as well as to provide opportunities for English language teaching professionals to exchange their teaching experience, and innovative teaching approaches and techniques. Proposals addressing the conference theme will receive first consideration.

Rationale

Importance of ELT has been greatly accentuated in the last couple of years among non-native English speaking countries especially in Asia. Thailand as well is more likely to encounter the crisis of ensuring successful language teaching and learning in the mainstream education, strongly determined to produce graduates with high English proficiency level. Therefore, the prime factors to achieve are not only initiating effective classroom practices or integrating diverse teaching pedagogies, but also enhancing a quality of teachers and educators.

Achieving professional excellence in the field of ELT requires ongoing self-development which is the process that immensely helps ELT teachers and educators manage the changes and challenges of their work not only at a practical level but also at a theoretical level and to accomplish their designated goals. Nonetheless, the pathway to success will not be dynamically implemented unless it is contextualized to local needs and constraints.

To that end, this conference therefore hopes to manifest multi-faceted aspects of teaching and learning, to introduce the prospect of pleasant outcomes in several classroom contexts both domestically and internationally, and to provide lifelong experience inside and outside the workplace as well as to share what is beyond the professional, significantly influencing teachers' personal life. These are to positively encourage any in the field of ELT to continuously walk in the colorful pathways towards professional excellence.

Objectives

The aims of the Thailand TESOL 2017 conference are:

- 1) To offer a scholarly platform for both Thai and international teachers/educators, from pre-service teacher trainees to veterans, to reflect on their ideas about "English Education" in order to enhance their understanding of past, present, and future directions of ELT;
- 2) To promote and disseminate new research contributions and information about teachers' experiences in order to strengthen teaching and learning in current and future classrooms for teachers, teacher educators, and policy makers;
- 3) To foster and enhance discussion, reflection and network-building that will assist professional teachers to more fully participate as integrated members of their respective home countries' English language teaching communities.

ELT Leadership Management Certificate Program at Thailand- TESOL Conference

Date: January 19-21, 2017

Location: The Ambassador Hotel, Bangkok, Thailand

In addition to the 2017 annual conference, Thailand TESOL in collaboration with TESOL International is pleased to co-host a very special event: ELT Leadership Management Certificate Program, on January 19-21, 2017.

Organized by TESOL International Association (TESOL), this ELT Leadership Management Certificate Program (LMCP) provides ELT teachers, teacher trainers, and administrators with the latest thinking on building quality ELT organizations and programs through effective leadership, management, and teacher training.

The LMCP format combines elements of a traditional conference with in-depth, hands-on workshops led by globally recognized experts to provide you with practical, research-based ideas, strategies, and tools to help you improve the quality of your ELT organization. You will also have numerous opportunities for networking and knowledge-sharing with your peers, both face-to-face and online after the academy.

Who Should Attend?

ELT teachers, leaders, administrators, and teacher trainers from universities, K-12 systems, and private language schools, and others with an interest in ELT issues in Asia

Workshop Descriptions

- Leadership and Management Fundamentals
- How to Run Effective Meetings
- Facilitating Groups and Building Teams
- Effective Time Management Strategies for ELT Leaders/Professionals

REQUIRED ELT LMCP WORKSHOP

1. Leadership and Management Fundamentals

Thursday, 19 January 2017, 9 am-5 pm

This interactive workshop focuses on three key areas of leadership and management: qualities of effective leaders, strategic planning, and leadership for teacher change: supervision.

Participants will be able to

- o Reflect on leadership styles and roles
 - o Become aware of important skills to develop as leaders and administrators
 - o Explore assumptions underlying strategic planning in language education

- o Understand the goals and process of strategic planning
- o Begin developing a strategic plan for their institutions
- o Reflect on their beliefs about teacher supervision
- o Learn about different approaches to teacher supervision and teacher observations

ELECTIVE WORKSHOPS (choose two)

1. How to Run Effective Meetings

Saturday, 20 January 2017, 10:35 am-12:05 pm

This workshop focuses on the essential components of organizing and running a good meeting from the perspective of working as a team. Participants discuss setting agendas, establishing priorities, keeping the meeting on track, and dealing with difficult people. Participants will be able to

- o Describe key elements of effective meetings
- o Articulate valid purposes for holding a meeting
- o Discuss essential steps in planning and preparing for a meeting
- o Think through the process of organizing a meeting agenda
- o Consider how to facilitate a meeting and keep it on track
- o Identify types of meeting detractors, including difficult participants, and how to address them
- o Distinguish critical aspects of meeting follow-up

2. Facilitating Groups and Building Teams

Saturday, 20 January 2017, 3:25-4:55 pm

This workshop focuses on the skills you will need to facilitate groups and build teams. Workshop participants will consider the advantages and disadvantages of working in teams and groups, examine what characteristics make a good team, understand the dysfunctions of teams, and review team leadership functions.

Participants will be able to

- o Decide when using a team is appropriate for the task
- o Understand team leadership functions and why trust is so important to effective teamwork
- o Determine how to build a team that gets results and to master goal setting
- o Differentiate facilitation vs. management
- o Develop awareness of the downside of group work and how to work around negative issues

3. Effective Time Management Strategies for ELT Leaders/Professionals

Sunday, 21 January 2017, 10:35 am-12:05 pm

This workshop focuses on the skills, strategies, and tools you will need to more effectively manage your time. Workshop participants explore their current definitions and uses of time, learn about the most common time wasters, and review the most successful time management strategies identified in the literature.

Participants will be able to

- o Understand current definitions and uses of time management
- o Evaluate good and bad time management practices
- o Generate a time log
- o Determine their most pressing time management issues
- o Review and evaluate time management tools
- o Identify individual time management practices
